The image shows a large grid of graph paper. The grid is composed of small squares. Two vertical lines are drawn through the grid, one on the left side and one on the right side, dividing the grid into three columns. The grid is otherwise empty.

The image shows a large grid of graph paper. The grid is composed of 20 columns and 30 rows of small squares. Two vertical lines are drawn through the grid, one at the second column and one at the tenth column from the left. These lines divide the grid into three sections: a narrow left margin, a wide central area, and a narrow right margin.
